House Judiciary Committee
2138 Rayburn House Office Bldg.
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Chairman Goodlatte, Ranking Member Conyers, and Members of the Judiciary Committee:

CreativeFuture is a coalition of over 490 companies and organizations and more than 100,000 creative individuals encompassing film, television, music, photography, and book publishing. Our coalition promotes the value of creativity, expanded digital access to legitimate content, and the fundamental right of creatives to determine how their works are distributed.

Filmmakers, musicians, writers, and photographers are only part of the creative community. The millions of people who make creative ideas a reality – carpenters, electricians, location managers, caterers, sound engineers, publishers and many others—are also creatives who depend on copyright to make a living. We tell stories, through film, television, music, photography, and books because it is our passion. But, it is also our livelihood. We work tirelessly to contribute to the cultural fabric of our world.

In October, 35,000 people signed the attached letter in support of copyright that was sent to almost 800 federal political candidates. This month, an additional 37,000 people added their names in support of the same letter and the principles contained therein. A copy of this letter with the 72,000 signatures is attached.

On behalf of these creatives and the broader creative community, I would like to thank you for making copyright, and specifically the modernization of the Copyright Office, a priority.

Regardless of craft, creatives are united in the belief that copyright is the legal engine that protects creativity and promotes free speech and free expression. Copyright gives creatives confidence that they can safely and securely share their work globally. And those who do create frequently reinvest the rewards of their labor back into the next project and the next – allowing creativity to continue to flourish.

The centerpiece of any strong copyright system is a strong Copyright Office. We support the Committee's proposal to modernize the Copyright Office. We are especially pleased to see that the proposal recognizes the Office's important work beyond its administration of the registration and recordation systems – namely, its critical role as an advisor to Congress and the Executive Branch on copyright law and policy.

There is every reason for the head of the Copyright Office, the Register of Copyrights, to be subject to the same nomination and confirmation process as other top government officials. The standing of the Copyright Office should reflect the value of the economic and cultural contributions of the creative economy that it supports.

We would welcome the opportunity to work with you on the details of your proposal as you move forward, including the issue of advisory committees. We would hope that these would reflect the views and interests of our creative communities, including CreativeFuture's members and the thousands of people who signed the attached letter.

In short, we applaud the Judiciary Committee for giving serious consideration to the steps necessary to ensure a proper framework for a 21st Century Copyright Office.

Thank you for the opportunity to share our thoughts at this stage. We look forward to working together on a copyright system that will serve the needs of those that so heavily rely on its protections.

Sincerely,

Ruth Vitale
CEO, CreativeFuture

Open Letter to 2016 Political Candidates

We are members of the creative community. While our political views are diverse, as creatives, there are core principles on which we can all agree. And we appreciate the opportunity to share our views with our country's current and future leaders.

We embrace the internet as a powerful democratizing force for our world and for creative industries. We recognize its ability to inspire positive change and improve lives. In our creative industries, the internet has helped to advance creativity by removing barriers to entry for newcomers, fostering a dialogue with fans and audiences, and providing numerous additional ways to reach them. The internet holds great potential to expand creativity and free expression.

We embrace a strong copyright system that rewards creativity and promotes a healthy creative economy. The incredible cultural and economic value that the internet delivers to billions of users is based in very large part on the efforts of creative content makers whose livelihoods depend on being compensated for their efforts. Internet platforms are making massive profits from creative contributions to the internet's growth. It is not too much to ask that content creators should be able to share in the value they provide.

We proudly assert that copyright promotes and protects free speech. Freedom of speech and freedom of expression go hand in hand with the freedom to create and to preserve the value and integrity of what one creates. The copyright clause of the Constitution is not in conflict with the First Amendment; indeed, the Supreme Court has called copyright the "engine of free expression" and copyright law has "built-in free speech safeguards." To creative people, self-expression is deeply personal. It is at the heart of everything creatives do. We view any effort to diminish the rights of creatives in the name of "free speech" as cynical and dishonest.

Copyright should protect creatives from those who would use the internet to undermine creativity. The internet can be a great tool for creatives just as it can be a tool for science, education, health care, and many other disciplines. However, when misused, it can harm creativity and stifle freedom of expression.

Our current and future leaders recognize that a safe and secure internet benefits us all. And all parties recognize the importance of strong copyright protections in their technology policy platforms because protecting copyright and internet freedom are both critically important and complementary—they are not mutually exclusive. A truly free internet, like any truly free community, is one where people respect the rights of others and can engage in legitimate activities safely—and where those who do not are held accountable under law by their peers.

Creatives must be part of the conversation and stand up for creativity. Some organizations and advocates, who in many cases are funded by online platforms, repeatedly claim to be pro-creatives and pro-audience to mask their own self-serving agenda. They denigrate or block effective efforts to preserve and promote creative content, including enforcement of existing laws and voluntary industry initiatives. The creative community is rightfully wary of any company or organization that claims to be "against piracy" when their actions do not match their words.

There is no "left" or "right" when it comes to respecting copyright. The creative community stands united in support of a copyright system that will continue to make the United States the global leader in the creative arts and the global paradigm for free expression.

Our copyright system is not perfect but, like democracy, it is better than the alternatives. It works. We urge our leaders to uphold America's commitment to the rights of creatives to determine when and how their works are shared in the global marketplace.
